

ANGELUS

1994

After a lovely summer, harvesting took place in September, when the weather was a little unreliable. The high grape quality helped to make a keeping wine with very classical characteristics. With its intense black robe, the wine displays black fruit aromas combined with hints of cocoa. The mid-palate is distinctively lush and dense. The finish is multilayered and firm, and contributes a lot of freshness and length to this very characteristic Saint-Emilion vintage.
